

TEAM WORK AND ESG

EARTH DAY 2021 CLEAN UP

ESG – ENVIRONMENTAL, SOCIAL AND GOVERNANCE – is a foundation of corporate responsibility to build financial and social value. This core principle extends to operations at the Eagle Gold Mine as the mine’s owner and operator Victoria Gold balances responsibility to the planet, to people and to all affected Yukoners and Yukon communities.

As the snow has retreated recently, and in the spirit of Earth Day 2021 and Victoria Gold’s commitment to the environment, several members of the Eagle Gold Mine team, led by VP Operations and General Manager, Dave Rouleau, collectively tidied up the mine’s camp site outside the administrative offices.

“Thank you to Dave Rouleau, and the site’s administrative team, for continually contributing to better practices at the Eagle Gold Mine,” says Victoria Gold President & CEO John McConnell. “Spring clean ups at site, and throughout the Yukon, are something we can all do to help preserve our valued environment.”

Team members from various Eagle Gold Mine departments participated in the clean-up including:

- Natalie Henderson – Process Planner
- Thomas McWhinnie – Process Administrator
- Tayler Vallevand-Vance – Mine Operations Administrator
- Sarah Zander – Site Services Administrator
- Dave Crottey – Health and Safety Manager
- Dave Rouleau – VP Operations and General Manager

Members of the Eagle Gold Mine team come together to clean up camp in celebration of Earth Day 2021 and Victoria Gold’s commitment to the environment.
