COMING TOGETHER TO RECOGNIZE VICTORIA GOLD

On Friday, June 24, over 80 Yukoners gathered to celebrate Victoria Gold President & CEO John McConnell and his team's achievement in receiving the prestigious Association for Mineral Exploration (AME) 2021 E.A. Scholz Award for Excellence in Mine Development earlier this year.

Hosted by Yukon Government and coordinated by Mosaic Communications, this special event was held at Mt. Sima in Whitehorse and brought together key business leaders, individuals and government partners who played a role in the development - and now the operations - of Victoria Gold's Eagle Gold Mine and its success.

According to Alkan Air President Wendy Tayler, who was unable attend the event in person and sent greetings on behalf of her team read out to the event guests by Yukon Chamber of Mines Executive Director Brianne Warner:

"As a Yukon-based entrepreneur, I want to sincerely thank you, on behalf of all our families at Alkan Air. Your drive and tenacity to make the Eagle Gold Mine a reality ensured many Yukoners could choose to stay and work in the territory. Many private sector businesses were able to maintain their size, or even grow, thanks to the positive impact of Victoria Gold."

Rich Thompson, CEO, Director and Founder of Northern Vision Development (NVD) LP stated, "as you know, NVD has a deep appreciation of the presence of Victoria in the Yukon and its positive impact on the Yukon's economy. More than that, we appreciate Victoria and its staff and leaders for their commitment to our community.

"You ensure that your success is shared with others in the Yukon through contracts and the purchase of services and you make - in our view - an outsized contribution to community programs. Your leadership in this regard does not go unnoticed and your company has left a very positive mark on the territory."

On June 29, Victoria Gold hosted an official Eagle Gold Mine Grand Opening at the mine site. This September marks the 3rd anniversary of the mine's first gold pour.

Victoria Gold President & CEO John McConnell with wife Tara Christie, President & CEO of Banyan Gold Corp, enjoy some special (and in this case humorous) congratulatory messages from key industry leaders at Yukon's recognition event for McConnell and the Victoria Gold team for their receipt of the AME E.A. Scholz Award for Excellence in Mine Development.
